

Workplace health and wellbeing environment appraisal tool

Workplace health and wellbeing programs are important to help workers maintain or improve their general health and fitness, but also to ensure you are providing workers with a healthy physical work environment and culture. The aim of the workplace health and wellbeing appraisal tool is to establish a baseline against which improvements in a workplace's readiness and capacity to be a health promoting environment can be measured.

- The tool asks questions about:
- Existing activities or programs
- The physical, policy and cultural environments
- Communication and promotion

The appraisal tool is best used in conjunction with our LGIS worker interest survey and LGIS worker wellbeing survey to guide your organisation in identifying issues, planning, designing, implementing and evaluating your health and wellbeing program.

Instructions

- 1. Complete one survey for the entire workplace.
- 2. For each question, select the response that describes your workplace currently (please note, not all questions will have relevance to your workplace).
- 3. Use the planning notes to jot down your thoughts or ideas.

Physical Activity

	Yes	No	Notes
Have gym or recreational facilities on site, or an agreement with a local facility (such as subsidised memberships or discounts)?
Have showers or change rooms facilities?
Have lockable storage areas for workers in a safe and convenient location?
Have standing workstations or other ergonomic equipment?
Have a written policy or procedure that supports employees being active e.g. flexible work arrangements?
Support walking meetings?

	Yes	No	Notes
Encourage workers to move more at work e.g. walking to speak to colleagues instead of emailing?
Encourage active transport options e.g. walking, cycling or public transport to and from work?
Provide onsite physical activity classes such as yoga or walking groups?
Run initiatives to encourage physical activity e.g. Walking challenge?
Provide information, promotional materials or regular information sessions about getting active?

Nutrition

	Yes	No	Notes
Provide access to healthy food options or snacks, including foods that are low in saturated fat, added salt or added sugar (consider canteens, vending machines, local shops, catering)?
Have vending machines that include healthy options?
Provide access to drinking water?
Make kitchen equipment available for food preparations such as fridge, cutlery, and microwaves?
Provide workers with dining areas or lunch rooms?
Have a healthy catering policy that requires healthy food options at meetings, events and other functions?

	Yes	No	Notes
Hold regular information sessions about healthy eating, such as cooking demonstrations or workshops?
Run initiatives that encourage healthy eating such as a healthy eating challenge or a healthy lunch club?
Host support programs for weight management?
Provide information and promotional materials about healthy eating?
Provide prompts for healthy food choices, such as messages near canteens, vending machines or in lunch rooms?

Social and emotional wellbeing

	Yes	No	Notes
Provide a space for workers to socialise?
Provide a space for workers to access privacy and quiet when required?
Have a written policy or procedure to address social and emotional wellbeing (e.g. flexible work arrangements, or return to work)
Organise social functions for workers and their families to help build social networks?
Provide supervisors/ managers with training on supporting social and emotional wellbeing (leadership, trust, respect, workload management, etc.)?
Have a recognition scheme to award workers achievements?

	Yes	No	Notes
Hold regular information sessions about social and emotional wellbeing, such as managing stress, building resilience or resolving conflict?
Run initiatives to support workers social and emotional wellbeing (e.g. yoga/ relaxation classes, support groups)?
Provide access to an employee assistance program?
Provide information and promotional materials on social and emotional wellbeing?
Promote telephone support services throughout the workplace, such as beyondblue or Lifeline?

Alcohol

	Yes	No	Notes
Encourage low- risk alcohol consumption at work events? E.g. provide low alcohol and no alcohol drink options, healthy food, safe transport options and refuse service to intoxicated people?
Have an up to date policy or procedure to address alcohol in the workplace and at work related events?
Provide an alternative to drinks after work, such as sports competitions or attending community events?
Hold regular information sessions about harmful alcohol consumption, such as risk, tips or low-risk alcohol guidelines?
Provide access to assistance program for workers with alcohol related problems?
Provide information and materials about low risk alcohol consumption?

	Yes	No	Notes
Display low risk alcohol guidelines at work related events?
Promote support services available for alcohol related problems, such as the Alcohol and Drug Support line or local GPs?

Quit Smoking

	Yes	No	Notes
Restrict tobacco smoking in the workplace, including work vehicles?
Display 'No Smoking' signs where appropriate?
Have an up to date smoke- free workplace policy or procedure?
Advise visitors and contractors of the smoke – free policy?
Support participation in quit smoking programs during work hours?
Hold regular information sessions about quitting smoking, such as the benefits of quitting and support services available?
Offer initiatives to support workers wanting to quit smoking, such as counselling, peer support, or subsided nicotine replacement therapy?
Promote support services available for quitting smoking, such as Quit line or local GPs?

Results

Add up your results and indicate them in the table below.

	Yes	No
Physical Activity
Nutrition
Social and emotional wellbeing
Alcohol
Quit smoking

Congratulations on completing the appraisal tool

You have now identified activities, resources and facilities in your workplace that support or have the potential to support the health and wellbeing of your workers.

To interpret your results, choose the category that bests fits your workplace's health and wellbeing program.

a) Just starting out

Your workplace environment has lots of potential for making changes that support workers health and wellbeing. Use the tool to identify priority areas for action and share these ideas with senior management and the wellness committee.

b) Building your health and wellbeing program

Enhance your workplace wellness program by identifying new changes you can make to the physical, policy and cultural environments. Identify the health topics where you answered 'no' several times and expand your action plan to include this/ these health topics. Prioritise the activities based on relevance and impact to your workplace/ workforce.

c) Improving your health and wellbeing program

You have an established wellness program that has made many positive changes to the work environment. Expand your program to include more health topics, or identify areas that you could improve on, e.g. maybe you run lots of activities and initiatives targeting healthy people, however have no policies or cultural support in place.

The tool is designed to help you with your action planning and is best used in conjunction with a worker survey / needs assessment. Combining these results will help you to priorities the most important health topics in your workplace. You can then develop your action plan, goals and objectives around these needs.