Education session for State and Local Government Employers

Join WorkCover WA and It Pays to Care for an information session in Albany targeted at State and Local Government Employers.

A positive psychological work environment that responds to work injuries in a fair, constructive and supportive way is associated with earlier return to work and stronger recovery outcomes.

Improving management of work injuries offers significant opportunities to enhance wellbeing and productivity of all workers.

It Pays to Care is a call for action to improve health and recovery outcomes and reduce barriers to care for people experiencing work injuries.

Learn about how you can make a difference in your workplace from It Pays to Care's Dr Mary Wyatt, in conversation with WorkCover WA General Manager Regulatory Services Rebecca Harris.
